

EFT TAPPING – EMOTIONAL FREEDOM TECHNIQUE

TESSA CASON

If we want to make changes in our lives, long-lasting, permanent, constructive changes, we have to change the destructive, dysfunctional, mis-beliefs in the subconscious. We have to change the programming in the subconscious.

WHAT IS EFT – EMOTIONAL FREEDOM TECHNIQUE:

EFT is a technique that allows us to change dysfunctional beliefs and emotions on a subconscious level. It involves making a statement while tapping different points along meridian paths.

The general principle behind EFT is that the cause of all negative emotions is a disruption in the body's energy system. By tapping on locations where a number of the different meridians flow, we are able to release unproductive memories, emotions, and beliefs which cause the blockages.

EFT TAPPING STATEMENTS:

An EFT statement has three parts to it:

Part 1: Starts with “Even though,” followed by

Part 2: A statement which could be the dysfunctional emotion or belief, and

Part 3: Ends with “I totally and completely accept myself.”

A total statement would be “Even though, I crave sweets, I totally and completely accept myself.”

The instructions below are described if you were using your right hand. Reverse directions to tap using the left hand. It is only necessary to tap one side. Tapping both sides does not add any additional benefit.

I. BEGIN WITH CIRCLING OR THE KARATE CHOP POINT (SEE NEXT PAGE):

- A. With the fingertips of your right hand, find a tender spot below your left collar bone. Once you have found the tender spot, with your right fingertips, press firmly on the spot, make a circular motion toward the left shoulder, toward the outside, clockwise.
- B. As your fingers are circling and pressing against the tender spot, make the following statement 3 times: "Even though, ___ [mis-belief statement] ___, I totally and completely accept myself." An example would be: "Even though, I fear change, I totally and completely accept myself."

II. TAPPING:

- A. After the third time, tap the following 8 points repeating the [mis-belief statement] each time with each point. Tap each point 7 - 10 times:
 1. The inner edge of the eyebrow just above the eye. [I fear change.]
 2. Temple, just to the side of the eye. [I fear change.]
 3. Just below the eye (on the cheekbone). [I fear change.]
 4. Under the nose. [I fear change.]
 5. Under the lips. [I fear change.]
 6. Under the knob of the inside edge of the collar bone. [I fear change.]
 7. 3" under the arm pit. [I fear change.]
 8. Top back of the head. [I fear change.]

- B. After tapping, take a deep breath. If you are not able to take a deep, full, satisfying breath, do eye rolls.

III. EYE ROLLS

- A. With one hand, tap continuously on the back of the other hand between the 4th and 5th fingers.
- B. Head is held straight forward, eyes looking straight down.
- C. For 6 seconds, roll your eyes from the floor straight up toward the ceiling while repeating the statement. Keep the head straight forward, only moving the eyes.

IV. TAKE ANOTHER DEEP BREATH.

KARATE CHOP POINT (KCP):

For the set up in EFT Tapping, use either the circling or the KCP. It is a matter of preference. One is not more effective than the other.

To tap the KCP, use the fingertips of the opposite hand or the KCP of both palms can be tapped together.

TAPPING POINTS FOR THE SHORT FORM OF EFT

EMOTIONAL FREEDOM TECHNIQUE

YAWNING AND TAKING A DEEP BREATH

From Oriental medicine, we know that when Chi (energy) flows freely through the meridians, the body is healthy and balanced. Physical, mental, and/or emotional illness can result when the energy is blocked.

Dysfunctional beliefs and emotions produce blocks along the meridians, blocking energy from flowing freely in the body.

With EFT tapping, as we tap, we are releasing the blocks. As blocked energy is able to flow more freely, the body is now able to “breathe a sigh of relief.” Yawning is that sigh of relief.

If, after tapping, we are able to take a complete, deep, full, and satisfying breath, we know that an EFT tapping statement has cleared. This yawn is an indication that an EFT tapping statement has cleared.

If the yawn or breath is not a full, deep breath then the statement didn't clear completely.

INTEGRATION...WHAT HAPPENS AFTER TAPPING

After tapping, our system needs some downtime for integration to take place. When the physical body and the mind are “idle,” integration can then take place.

Sometimes, in the first 24 hours after tapping, we might find ourselves vegging more than normal, sleeping more than normal, or more tired than normal. This downtime is needed to integrate the new changes.

After installing a new program into our computer, sometimes we have to reboot the computer (shut down and restart) for the new program to be integrated into the system.

After tapping, our bodies need to reboot. We need some downtime. When we sleep, the new changes are integrated.

Healing begins naturally after the body has had a chance to integrate.

Sometimes after tapping, we forget the intensity of our pain and think that our feeling better had nothing to do with the tapping. Something so simple could not possibly create the improvement in our state of mind!

When we cut our finger, once it is healed, we don't even remember cutting our finger. As we move toward health, wealth, and well-being, sometimes we don't remember how unhappy, restless, or isolated we once felt.

HOW DOES EFT TAPPING WORK?

1. Acceptance: The last part of the tapping statement we say, “I totally and completely accept myself.” Acceptance brings us into present time. We can only heal if we are in present time. Laughter brings us into present time. “Laughter is the best medicine.”
2. Addresses the current mis-belief on a subconscious level: In order to make changes in our lives, we have to change the dysfunctional beliefs, the mis-belief on a subconscious level. The middle part of the tapping statements are the “instructions” for the subconscious. In order to make changes in our lives, we only care what the subconscious hears.
3. Pattern interrupt: Dysfunctional memories and/or mis-beliefs disrupt or block the flow of energy from flowing freely along the meridians. Tapping is a pattern interrupt that disrupts the flow of energy to allow our body’s own Infinite Wisdom to come forth for healing.
4. Mis-direct: One role of the physical body is to protect us. When our hand is too close to a flame, the body automatically pulls the hand back to safety. An EFT Tapping statement that agrees with the current belief is more effective. The physical body is less likely to “sabotage” the tapping if it agrees with the current belief.

An Example: The very first tapping statement we need to tap is: “It is not okay or safe for my life to change.” Even though our lives are constantly changing does not mean we are comfortable or okay with change. When we are not comfortable with change, it creates stress for the body.

EFT Tapping Statement: “It is not okay or safe for my life to change.”

- * This statement appeases the physical body since it agrees with the current belief.
- * The subconscious hears, “It is okay and safe for my life to change.”
- * The tapping disrupts the energy flow so our Truth can come forth.

The body will always gravitate to health, wealth, and well-being when the conditions allow it. EFT Tapping weeds the garden so that the blossoms can bloom more easily and effortlessly.

SCIENCE AND EFT TAPPING RESEARCH

EFT has been researched in more than 10 countries by more than 60 investigators whose results have been published in more than 20 different peer-reviewed journals. Two of the leading researchers are Dawson Church, Ph.D. and David Feinstein, Ph.D.

Dr. Dawson Church, a leading expert on energy psychology and an EFT master, has gathered all the research information and can be found on this website: www.EFTUniverse.com.

TWO RESEARCH STUDIES DISCUSSED BELOW

HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOLS STUDIES AND THE BRAIN'S STRESS RESPONSE

Studies at the Harvard Medical School revealed that stimulating the body's meridian points significantly reduced activity in a part of the brain called the amygdala.

The amygdala can be thought of as the body's alarm system. When the body is experiencing trauma or fear, the amygdala is triggered and the body is flooded with cortisol also known as the "stress hormone." The stress response sets up an intricate chain reactions.

The studies showed that stimulating or tapping points along the meridians such as EFT tapping, drastically reduced and/or eliminated the stress response and the resulting chain reaction.

DR. DAWSON CHURCH AND CORTISOL REDUCTION

Another significant study was conducted by Dr. Dawson Church. He studied the impact an hour tapping session would have on the cortisol levels of 83 subjects. He also measured the cortisol levels of people who received traditional talk therapy and the cortisol levels of a third group who received no treatment at all.

On an average, for the 83 subjects that completed an hour tapping session, cortisol levels were reduced by 24% reduction. Some subjects experienced a 50% reduction in cortisol levels.

Subjects that completed an hour long traditional talk therapy and the subjects that had completed neither sessions did not experience any significant cortisol reduction.

BENEFITS OF USING EFT TAPPING

- * The last part of the statement is "I totally and completely accept myself." Acceptance brings us into present time. Healing can only take place when we are in present time.
- * By tapping, we are calling forth our truths. The key word here is "our." Not anyone else's. If my name is "Lucas," tapping the statement "Even though my name is Troy," my name will not be changed to Troy.
- * Tapping calls forth our own body's Infinite Wisdom. When we cut our finger, our body knows how to heal the cut itself. Once the dysfunctional emotions, experiences, and beliefs have been "deleted," our body automatically gravitates to health, wealth, wisdom, peace, love, joy...
- * By changing the mis-beliefs and dysfunctional emotions on a subconscious level, the changes we make with EFT are permanent.
- * By tapping, we are "neutralizing" the stored memories that have been blocking energy from flowing freely along the meridians.
- * Another benefit of tapping and EFT is desensitization. Let's say, we have a difficult person in our life that ignores us and/or criticizes us and we tap the statement: "This difficult person [or their name] ignores and criticizes me."

Tapping doesn't mean they will no longer ignore and/or criticize us.

It can, though, desensitize us so we no longer are affected by their behavior. Once we are desensitized, our perception and mental thinking improves. We are better able to make informed decisions. We don't take and make everything personally. Our health is not negatively impacted. Our heart doesn't beat 100 beats/minute. Smoke stops coming out of our ears. And our faces don't turn red with anger and frustration.

WHEN TO USE EFT TAPPING AND WHAT CAN EFT TAPPING CHANGE

- * USE EFT TAPPING ANYTIME.

Nothing special is needed to do EFT. Anything that comes up that seems to cause stress, chaos, hurt, and/or annoyance, we can tap. Anything that seems to pull us off center, off focus, we can make into a statement and tap.

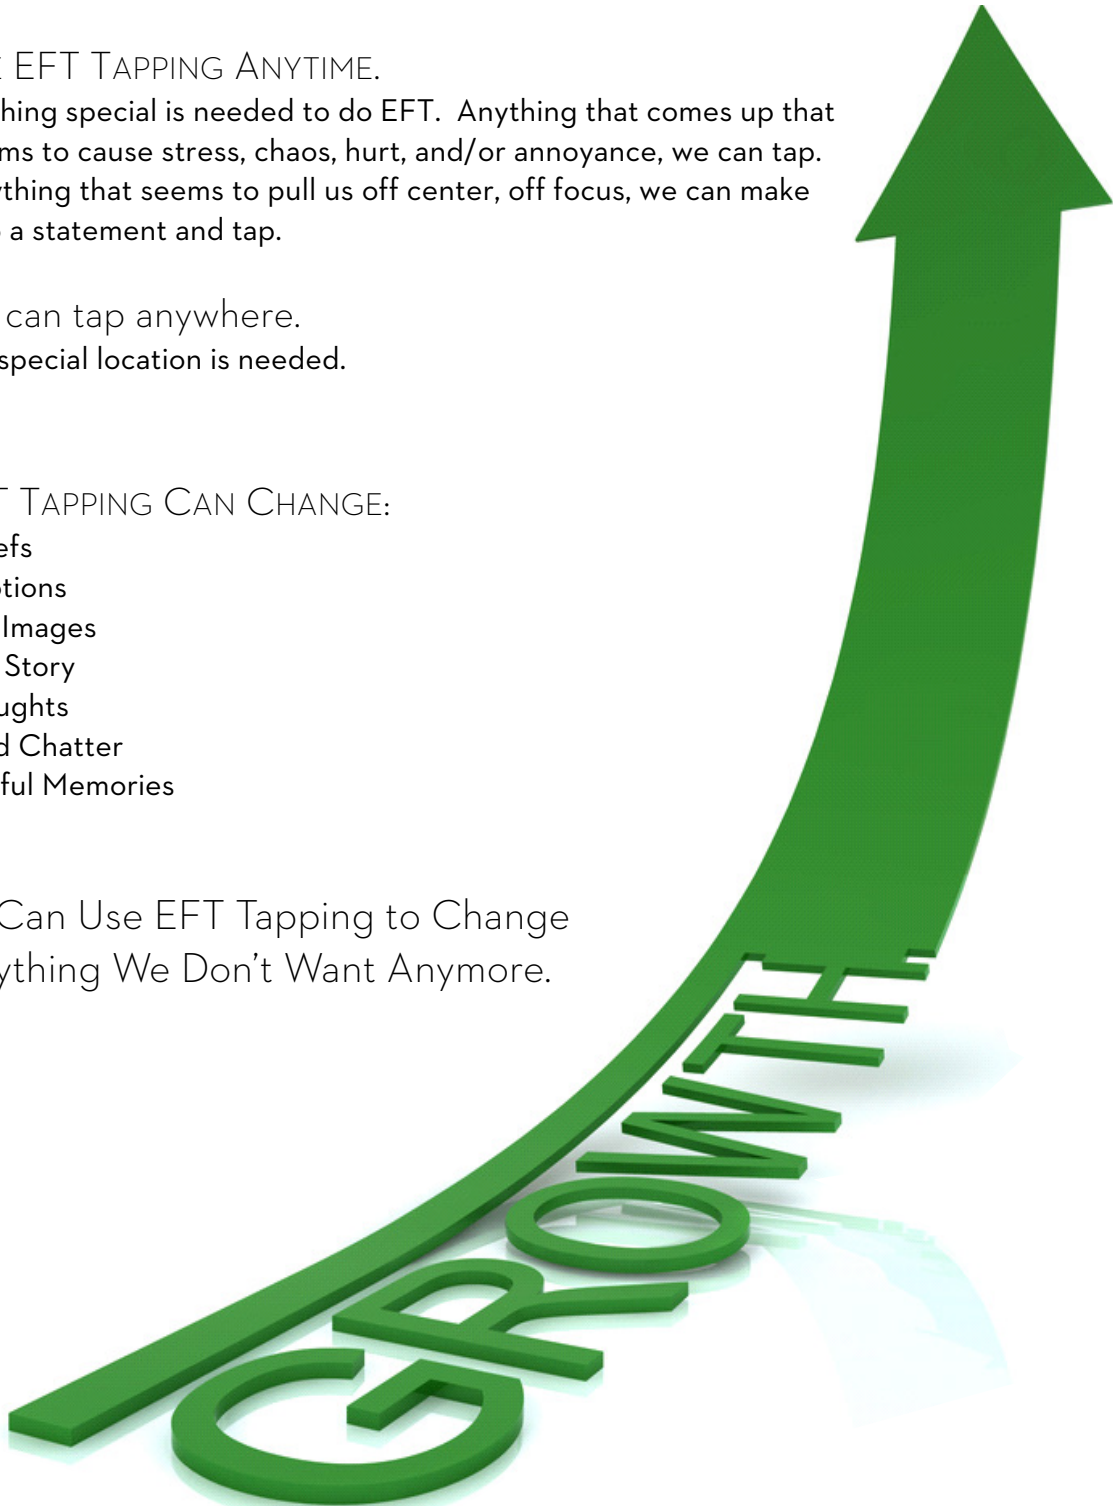

- * We can tap anywhere.

No special location is needed.

- * EFT TAPPING CAN CHANGE:

- Beliefs
- Emotions
- Self Images
- Our Story
- Thoughts
- Mind Chatter
- Painful Memories

We Can Use EFT Tapping to Change
Anything We Don't Want Anymore.

THE VERY FIRST EFT TAPPING STATEMENT TO TAP

The very first EFT tapping statement I have clients and students tap is “It is not okay or safe for my life to change.” I have muscle tested this statement with more than a thousand people. Not one person tested strong that it was okay or safe for their life to change.

HOW EFFECTIVE CAN EFT OR ANY THERAPY BE IF IT ISN'T OKAY OR SAFE FOR OUR LIVES TO CHANGE?

Since our lives are constantly changing, if it is not okay or safe for our lives to change, every time our lives change, it creates stress for the body. Stress creates another whole set of issues for ourselves, our lives, and our bodies.

IT'S NOT OKAY OR SAFE FOR MY LIFE
TO CHANGE.

SHORT FORM OR LONG FORM OF EFT TAPPING

The long form of EFT Tapping involves a sequence of tapping on the fingers, eye movements, humming, and counting.

After learning EFT Tapping, I utilized both forms to determine if one was more effective than the other. I wanted to determine if one or the other was more effective in clearing beliefs, emotions, reframing, or for healing a story.

I FOUND THERE WASN'T A DIFFERENCE.

Tapping the long form did not clear an issue that the short form did not clear. When an issue did not clear with the short form, we tapped the long form. The issue still persisted.

Since I could not discern an advantage to using the long form, I decided to use the short form to be able to address more concerns of my clients in the time span of their session.

I also discovered that if a statement did not clear, other beliefs, issues, and/or emotions needed to be addressed before the resistant statement would clear.

USING A NEGATIVE EFT TAPPING STATEMENT

Our beliefs precede all of our thoughts, feelings, decisions, choices, actions, reactions, and experiences...

If we want to make changes in our lives, we have to change the mis-beliefs, the dysfunctional beliefs. Our beliefs are stored in the subconscious.

To change our lives, to change a belief, we only care what the subconscious hears when we tap. The subconscious does not hear the word “no.” When we say, “I am not going to eat that piece of cake,” the subconscious hears, “Yummm, cake!”

Example, if we don’t believe we had what it takes to be successful and we tap the statement, “I have what it takes to be successful,” the body could sabotage the tapping. We could tap and it won’t clear.

If instead the statement we make is “I don’t have what it takes to be successful,” the “not” appeases the physical body and the subconscious hears, “I have what it takes to be successful!”

A STATEMENT WITH THE WORD
“NO” OR “NOT,”
ALTHOUGH MAY SEEM TO BE CONTRADICTIONARY, WORKS BEST!
